Showcase Of Calloway County Manufactured Items Almost Complete At Ledger & Times

The Ledger and Times has just about completed their "Made in Calloway County" showcase, which Murrians are invited to see when they drop by the office of the daily paper.

The showcase is a glass showcase, as the name implies, and placed in it are samples of the items which are produced in Calloway County.

The Murray Machine and Tool Company, owned and operated by Ray Munday, prepared three items for the showcase composed of a miniature oil tank, both the type that rests on the ground and the type that is raised on supports, and a miniature septic tank.

Munday does not retail the septic tanks, but manufacturers them for dealers. A large part of his business is the manufacture of various tanks for domestic consumption.

The Murray Marble Works made a small monument for the display, which is representative of their work.

Dream Of Leopold Receives Setback

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Nathan Leopold's dream of spending the rest of his life doing humanitarian work in a remote island hospital has suffered a setback.

State officials revealed Tuesday that Leopold's plea to be paroled to Puerto Rico came in conflict with Illinois law. Puerto Rico is a commonwealth, not a state or territory, of the United States, according to Illinois Public Safety Director Joseph D. Bibb.

Bibb said a 1956 ruling by state attorney general Latham Castle held that state law gives the governor authorization to enter into compact for the supervision of parolees within "states and territories."

Since Puerto Rico is considered a "commonwealth," the impact provision does not permit parole arrangements to be made with the Caribbean island government, Bibb said.

Leopold, the state's most notorious criminal, was granted a parole from his "life plus 99 years" sentence last Thursday by the Illinois Pardon and Parole Board. He had served more than 33 years in prison for the 1924 thrill-slaying of 14-year old Bobby Franks.

His accomplice, Richard Loeb, received an identical sentence but was killed in a prison knife fight in 1936.

Still confined at Stateville Penitentiary, Leopold had asked permission to take a $10-a-month job as an X-ray technician at a mission hospital in Puerto Rico. There he hoped to work in anonymity and serve mankind.

Chicago attorney Elmer Gertz, who was largely responsible for winning the brilliant convict his freedom, said he would continue to press for the Puerto Rico assignment, despite Bibb's statement.

MERCY MISSION CONTAINER—Developed by the Air Research and Development Command, this emergency rescue container insures a longer lease on life for downed airmen. Carried bomb-like under the wings of a supersonic jet fighter, the container is para-dropped to airmen at sea or in otherwise inaccessible areas. It can carry 450 pounds of survival equipment. At bottom, project engineer Howard F. Holton, points out the possible uses of the mercy mission equipment. The shell in the foreground can be used to haul equipment or injured personnel in Arctic or tropic regions. The nose cone can be set up to collect drinking water and the parachute which lowers the container to downed personnel can be made into a tent.

Hearing Is Held Today On Child Welfare Bill

By JAMES R. RENNEISEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

FRANKFORT, Feb. 26 (UP) — The big show in the General Assembly today was the 1958 production of "Veto Barnes versus the Kentucky Citizens for Child Welfare, Inc." being played at a committee hearing in the Senate chamber.

Commissioner of Economic Security Veto E. Barnes heads the cost of characters in the time-tested melodrama.

The Senate Health and Welfare Committee with Sen. J. E. Johnson (D-South Williamson) as its chairman, is conducting the hearing on Senate Bill 163 which proposes a state commission for child welfare to administer all children's services and institutions.

The tactics of the administration of Gov. A. B. Chandler in dealing with the bill which it strongly opposes, were made apparent by the list of persons subpoenaed to testify at the hearing.

Besides Barnes these witnesses included:

Charles Allphin, commissioner of welfare.

Sen. George E. Overby (D-Murray) who was chairman of a joint legislative committee for investigating welfare institutions two years ago.

Reg. Bullock Walsh (D-Jefferson) and Robert Gullett (D-Jessamine) — two members of that committee.

Emory Hoskins, superintendent of the Kentucky Children's Home at London.

Robert Hammond, superintendent of Kentucky Village at Greendale.

Bernard Gravitt Midway, a former teacher at the Kentucky Children's Home.

Also called were Dr. W. E. Watson, Luther Minyard, Ernest

This year's observance of the World Day of Prayer was the most successful ever held in Murray with a large attendance from eight churches representing five denominations attending the service held at the First Christian church last Friday, according to a spokesman.

Mrs. M. C. Ellis, president of the united church women, expressed the appreciation of the group to the mayor, police department, the principals of the schools, the LEDGER & TIMES and station WNBZ for their cooperation in making the entire city aware of the minute of prayer at noon on Friday.

Mrs. John Pasco was in charge of the program which included a devotionals talk on "The Bread of Life" by Mrs. Norman Hale, violin meditation by Mrs. Woodfin Huston accompanied by Mrs. Richard Farrell and a film strip, "The Voice of Prayer Is Never Silent," narrated by Mrs. L. M. Overby, assisted by Mrs. Orval Austin. The program closed with Mrs. Howard Oilla singing "The Lord's Prayer."

The next meeting of the united church women will be the observance of world community day with a luncheon to be held at the First Methodist church on Friday, May 2nd.

Lions Hold Meeting At Kirksey

Kirksey High School was the scene of the regular meeting of the Murray Lions Club last night. The members enjoyed a delicious meal served by the Kirksey P. T. A.

L. D. Miller, Executive Secretary of the Murray Chamber of Commerce was the speaker of the evening and gave an informative talk in regard to the Clark's River Watershed Project. He pointed out that by 1970 the population of the United States will total approximately 196 million and that it is time that we become more conscious about conserving our natural resources. In keeping with this talk, Mr. Miller showed a very interesting film entitled "Pipeline to the Clouds." The film dealt mainly with the conservation of water and pointed out very clearly how we depend on it in our everyday life.

Mr. Miller also told the club that a number of visitors will be in the midst during the next two weeks and asked each member to sponsor a "Clean Up Campaign" around his own home in order to make our community more pleasing to those that are strangers here.

Keys Keel was a guest of S. V. Foy and Bethel Richardson had Z. Enix as his guest.

Storm Wreaks Havoc In West

By UNITED PRESS

A Pacific storm that caused an estimated five million dollars damage in California whipped across the plains into the Midwest today, its punch weakened but still windy and wet.

Clearing skies Tuesday and today eased the threat of further serious flooding in water-logged California, but authorities continued their watch along levees burdened by high waters.

The storm system, which hit California Monday, pushed eastward Tuesday, drawing mild temperatures into the midlands.

Record high temperatures were set at Fargo, N. D., when an all-time February high of 66 degrees, and at Minneapolis, where a 55-degree reading was a new high mark for the date.

The warm temperatures were carried into the plains and upper Mississippi Valley on strong winds reaching gusts of 30 to 40 miles per hour.

Cooler weather invaded the northeast with temperatures dipping below freezing early today and snow falling in occasional rain tonight and Thursday and again about Sunday or Monday.

FIVE DAY FORECAST

By United Press

KENTUCKY — Temperatures for the five-day period, Thursday through Monday, will average about eight degrees above the state normal of 40 degrees. Turning colder Thursday and Friday, warming again about Saturday or Sunday. Precipitation will average near one-inch in occasional rain tonight and Thursday and again about Sunday or Monday.

Maximum Support Pledged In Effort To Obtain New Plants

The Murray City Council yesterday evening pledged their full support to the Murray Chamber of Commerce in their efforts to acquire more industry for the city.

Ronald Churchill, president of the Chamber of Commerce, asked the city council, in the special call meeting at 4:00 p.m. yesterday, if they would be willing to sell a bond issue for the construction of a manufacturing plant, if the chamber was fortunate enough to successfully negotiate for one.

Churchill told the council that the chamber would like to have the cooperation of the city council, in whatever negotiations that it undertook in order to obtain another industry for Murray.

L. D. Miller, executive secretary of the Murray Chamber of Commerce, told the council that the chamber had some land and an option on other sites, which would form excellent factory sites. It was also brought out by Bob Huie, superintendent of the Murray Water and Sewer System, and E. S. Ferguson, superintendent of the Murray Electric System, that proper utilities could be extended to any plant wishing to locate in Murray.

The city also can supply any new plant with natural gas for domestic or manufacturing purposes.

Several members of the Murray Chamber of Commerce industrial and finance committees were present including Verne Kyle, Hiram Tucker, Waylon Rayburn, George Hart, Glen Duran, and Max Beale.

Doran told the council that proper access roads could be constructed through the cooperation of the state.

The motion was made and carried that the Murray City Council give their maximum support to the Murray Chamber of Commerce, including the selling of revenue bonds with which to construct a suitable building to house a manufacturing concern.

It was explained that in the event revenue bonds were sold for the building construction, a new plant would then less the building in such a way that the bonds would be paid off in rentals.

The Chamber of Commerce has worked on a number of leads, and it was felt, Miller told the council, that the chamber should be armed with positive counsel cooperation and approval, if the opportunity presented itself to successfully close a contract with a bona fide manufacturing concern.

In addition to the approved motion that the council go on

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled.
 Matt. 5:6.

They that hunger for wealth and fame sometimes reach their goal, but it does not satisfy. They are not blessed.

CARELESS WITH THE TRUTH

David Lawrence, noted writer, says former President Harry S. Truman was careless with the truth in a television program last Sunday.

He quotes Truman as saying he removed General Douglas MacArthur from his command in the Far East for insubordination, also that he told General Dwight Eisenhower in 1945 he should never enter politics.

Lawrence cites the record on the MacArthur incident which shows all members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff as having exonerated him of insubordination and classifying release of a letter he wrote Veterans of Foreign Wars as accidental and unjustified by him.

In the matter of Truman's advice to Eisenhower he used the former president's own words at Potsdam in 1945 in praising the Supreme Commander and pledging his support to him in any position he wished to seek "including the presidency."

Lawrence recognizes the fact that Truman is still a politician, and the way politicians use some public incidents and issues is accepted as privileged, but he also thinks that a man who has held the highest office in the land should be more careful with the truth than Truman was Sunday in his television interview.

It has been established that Truman had a right to remove MacArthur because of the difference in their political views, but it is a reflection on the General's army record and personal integrity to continue to accuse him of insubordination, a charge which has been officially set aside by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

And we see nothing to be gained at this late date by the former president falsifying the record in regard to his change of mind about Ike. We believe it is pretty well established that he could have become Truman's hand-picked candidate on the democratic ticket if he had been willing to stomach the deep freeze, mink coat and five percent scandals.

The fact that Ike chose the hard road and became a Republican candidate on a reform platform in opposition to the late Robert Taft will forever be to his credit.

TVA WEEKLY NEWS LETTER

TVA announced today that preliminary site work at the Widows Creek Steam Plant, in northeast Alabama, will start on Monday (March 3), in preparation for the construction of a 500,000 kilowatt generating unit. No date has as yet been set for the start of actual construction of the power plant itself.

The half-million kilowatt unit, one of the world's largest, was authorized by TVA's Board of Directors last fall. Orders for the boiler and tubogenerator were placed immediately.

A considerable amount of construction equipment is being barged to the plant from TVA's storage yards at Singleton, near Knoxville.

Initial work will consist of preparing the ground for the construction buildings and concrete mixers, erection of small temporary buildings, and grading.

The labor force will increase to approximately 350 by July. Peak employment of approximately 1,200 will be reached in about a year after that.

Hendon R. Johnston is project manager. His most recent assignment was as project manager of the John Sevier Steam Plant.

The unit is to be financed with revenues from the sale of power at the start. Consideration is to be given later to financing it with revenue bonds should legislation authorizing TVA to issue such bonds be approved by Congress.

TVA today announced award of the following contracts:

The McKay Company, Pittsburgh, stainless steel welding electrodes, indefinite quantity may exceed $50,000; Semet-Solway Division, Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation, 50,000 tons of coke, $700,000; Goodrich, tires and tubes indefinite quantity term contract, may exceed $70,000; General Electric Co., Chattanooga, electrical control equipment manufactured in various states, $89,870; Delta - Star Electric Division, H. K. Porter Company (Delaware), Chicago, disconnecting switches manufactured in Illinois and Ohio, $71,850; Fidelity Sales Corporation, Knoxville, liquid floor cleaner, manufactured in Illinois, indefinite quantity term contract may exceed $87,000; Goslin Birmingham Manufacturing Co., Birmingham, operating machinery for Wilson Loeck, $449,500; Signal Mountain Portland Cement Division, General Portland Cement Co., Chattanooga, cement, $63,238.

TVA said today that 33 tracts of land on Norris Lake, aggregating 2,339 acres, will be sold at public auction at 11 a.m. on March 12, at the Municipal Building, LaFollette, Tenn. Except for two tracts, all are in Campbell County. The two exceptions are on the county line between Campbell and Anderson counties. Twenty-seven tracts are recommended for agricultural use, five as home sites, and six are suitable for recreational development.

TVA said that Val L. Stanton of its Land Branch has established an office at the Hotel Russell Annex, LaFollette, and will remain there until the sale to supply information about the pending auction sale.

TVA announced today that 19 tracts of land on Wheeler Lake in north Alabama were sold at public auction recently for $91,300. The tracts aggregated 906 acres. The land was in Lauderdale, Morgan, Marshall, and Madison counties. Ten tracts were suitable for agriculture, and 9 could be developed for recreational use. The combined sales price was 65 percent over the minimum-acceptable bids.

S. D. HUNTING MISHAPS

PIERRE, S. D. — The South Dakota Department of Game, Fish and Parks reported six persons were killed and 32 injured in hunting mishaps during 1957. Most of the accidents involved juvenile rabbit hunters.

The mold is injected, and it rises to the blood clot on its own, says a Massachusetts Heart Association announcement. The mold has been tried in 25 human patients, each time with excellent results.

Audience Participation Show Wears Out Ewald After Time

By WILLIAM EWALD
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK (AP) — I went on NBC-TV last night in a television program Monday, submitting myself to seven audience participation shows in three hours. Frankly, I'd rather hang by my eyelashes for the rest of the year than do it again.

I set out on this extraordinary excursion because of the early morning debut of a new NBC-TV show, "Dough Re Mi." A musical quiz, it was relatively painless, but my subsequent trek through the wilds of the "Treasure Hunt," "The Price Is Right," "Truth or Consequences," and "It Could Be You" proved almost as difficult a test of endurance as a cross country run over soggy waffles.

"Dough Re Mi" pits a trio of contestants against each other in a game that calls for them to identify songs after hearing only three notes. What makes the game so difficult is that the band plays each smidgen in a kind of mournful dirge that sounds like a dying man blowing his last breath into a defective tubophone.

One contestant thought "The March from the River Kwai" was "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and another guest guessed it was "Till We Meet Again, Kathleen." I couldn't tell since I thought it was "Popeye the Sailor Man."

Aside from that, I would say "Dough Re Mi" has it—whatever it is.

Keeps Chugging
 Whatever it is, by the way, does keep "Dough Re Mi" chugging away at NBC-TV. They follow "Dough Re Mi" on the sked. Neither gives away much. On "Treasure Hunt" I saw a gentleman win a prize named Nick Kenny, a literary figure with whom I am acquainted.

"The Price Is Right" is a show punctuated by the greedy cackle of ladies in the audience who clucked their chops Monday over such giveaway-fodder as china, six turkeys, a baby jeep, a fur coat and a set of hosiery. It draws the highest amount of mail at NBC, a testimonial to something or other too far-beyond-for-me even to consider.

NBC-TV's "Truth or Consequences" follows on the sked along with CBS-TV's "Dotto." I would say "Consequences" provided the main point of my morning when a lady contestant was offered a $100 bill if she could name the face on it.

She said it was George Washington or while the audience screamed Andrew Jackson. Finally, one elderly gent in the audience yelled Benjamin Franklin and he was right and wanted the bill but the emcee offered him a bottle of perfume instead. The old gentleman snarled and it was all sort of ho-ho-ho-ho.

Limps Back to 'Consequences'
 Meanwhile, over at CBS-TV's "Dotto," two contestants were trying to identify a picture of David Niven from a series of dots. I limped back to "Consequences" and watched the face of a lady contestant who thought her husband was being heckled to death with a sword only to find it really wasn't her husband and I thought what fun!

The emcee must have thought so, too, because he told the horrified woman (modified by the gift of a moon grinder, blinder and juicer) it was one of the best stunts the show had ever had.

"The Tac Dough" was next on NBC-TV and it's a pretty good show, but by this time I was pretty beat so I just moped through it and staggered into NBC-TV's next entry, "Can Be You." I watched three ladies get frying pans for guessing when a man was going to sneeze, watched a blonde crazy for hamburgers get a boxful and watched a nice looking young man stretched on the rack by an emcee who knew the youngster didn't have a tax for his school prom.

"All you've got is that old gray suit with the moths in the knees" joshed the emcee as the young man writhed in pain. "And your mother has been supporting you since you were five and you haven't any money to take out your girl in style" — or words to that effect.

Well, they gave the sad young man a tax, a new suit and $50 and he looked pretty relieved to get out of the joint. And so, might I add, was I.

The Channel Swim: Nanette Fabray (Mrs. Randy Macdonald) expects her first baby in September. Doty Goodman, who is being watched out as a regular on the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show," has a March 4 date with Eddie Fisher's NBC-TV show.

Doty's first outside assignment under her new $25,000 NBC contract.

NBC-TV's Jan Murray has a two-week vacation coming up in March — Keefe Branslee, Bob Smith, Bob Kennedy, Mel Allen and Johnny Johnston will pinch-hit on "Treasure Hunt." Re-runs of "On Trial" look like the summer sub for NBC-TV's "Your Hit Parade." Dave Gardner, the Biloxi, Miss., comic, who has capered on the Paar show, was signed to a contract by NBC.

Eddie Fox Jr. has pulled out of the March 1 "Gale MacKenzie Show" because of illness. ABC-TV's upcoming "Make Me Laugh" held auditions for a comedy Monday in Manhattan, and 136 girls swamped the network — almost all of them with their hair cut and dyed like Kim Novak.

by the present state administrator of child welfare program.

It is our belief that progress in the field of child welfare can only be made under a single department, dealing with the problem of children as a whole.

The program must consider the needs of the child regardless of whether society labels him as dependent, neglected or delinquent since the same basic service is essential.

Representatives of the Kentucky Citizens for Child Welfare, Inc., also were expected to appear before the committee in favor of the bill for setting up a united child welfare program.

The one-hundredth anniversary of the Salem Baptist Church will be observed on February 27-29 by special services, Pastor T. T. Crabtree announced today.

A pack of scrapping Murray High Tigers piled up a nearly margin here last night to defeat Lone Oak 42-32.

Claude Miller, insurance agent for the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., received word today that he ranked second in the United States for second-year agents in the number of lives insured with his company for the past year.

The Murray Thoroughbreds are in Louisville tonight for the opening of the KIAC Basketball Tournament. Some of the teams this year are facing each other as almost perfect strangers.

Murrayans hauled out their umbrellas and rain coats today and resigned themselves to a long spell of rainy weather. Continued overcast skies gave no hope of seeing the sun for some time to come.

Tigers Dropped By Rebels Here Tues.

By TED SYKES

The Murray High Tigers dropped their last game of the season Tuesday night to the South Marshall Rebels. The Tigers could not match the running Rebel team and bowed, 71-47.

Murray opened the game with Eddie Wells clicking for Tiger points. The Rebels of South Marshall set a very fast pace by which they drummed up a nine point lead, 16-7, with three minutes remaining in the period. The Tigers failed on continued attempts to raise their score and found themselves trailing 23-8 as the first stanza ended.

The second quarter saw Murray fall in step with the quick-paced as they began to move up. The fast break, Pugh to Roberts, brought the Tigers to within six points of the Rebels, 30-24, with three minutes showing on the clock. Murray stalled in their scoring attack and South Marshall held the halftime lead, 35-28.

A determined Rebel team dominated the third quarter. They continued to use the fast pace to their advantage. The gap between the scores widened as Murray dropped behind 56-34, as the horn ended the third period.

The Tigers fought the large Rebel lead with Pugh and Hurt.

finding needed points. Although fighting hard, Murray still drifted below the Rebel standard. Murray High failed to meet a last Rebel charge which shot the score upward leaving the Tigers with a 71-47 defeat.

Scoring honors went to Mathis of South Marshall with 27 points. Murray high point man was Dan Pugh who connected for 14 Tiger points. Murray was charged with 17 fouls while South Marshall committed 13.

Each team attempted 20 foul shots. Murray connected for 11 as compared to 9 for the Rebels. The South Marshall B team humbled the little Tigers, 43-31. South Marshall 23 35 56 71

Kansas State On Top Third Week In Row

By NORMAN MILLER

United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK — Kansas State topped the United Press college basketball ratings today for the third week in a row, but if the Wildcats falter, third-ranked Cincinnati faces an excellent opportunity to muscle its way to the national championship.

Among Kansas State's three persistent pursuers for the title, Cincinnati faces by far the toughest schedule during the two remaining weeks of the regular season. Second-ranked West Virginia and fourth-ranked San Francisco have comparatively easy opponents left to be played.

Should Kansas State (18-1) be upset in any of its four remaining games against Big Eight Conference rivals, Cincinnati can stake a strong claim for the national championship by beating St. Louis, Wichita and two backyard foes, Dayton and Xavier over the four weeks of the Bears' 24-2 season record.

Kansas State's toughest test shapes up as the regular-season finale against Wilt Chamberlain-led Kansas West Virginia (22-1) has only George Washington on its regular slate before competing in the Southern Conference Tournament which it will be favored to win. San Francisco (21-1) has three games remaining against mediocre California Basketball Association rivals. Twenty-four of the 35 leading coaches who compromise the United Press Rating Board picked Kansas State No. 1 this week. Five voted for West Virginia, three for Cincinnati, two for San Francisco, and one for Notre Dame, which made the top 10 group for the first time this season.

The Wildcats' first-place margin was only slightly altered from last week, declining from 54 to 52 points over West Virginia. Points are awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th places.

Runners-up Bunched
Only nine points separated the second, third and fourth-ranked teams in the eight-year history of the United Press ratings. After San Francisco in this week's ratings came Temple, Duke, Kansas, Michigan State, North Carolina State and Notre Dame. The Irish advanced from 15th place, replacing Oklahoma State in the select group.

The coaches based their ratings on games played through Saturday, Feb. 22.

Duke (16-5) made the biggest jump of the week among the leaders, moving from ninth to sixth place. Temple, with a 20-2 record and a 19-game winning streak, advanced one notch to No. 5, and Michigan State (15-4) went up two places to No. 8.

North Carolina, last season's NCAA champion, advanced from 14th to 11th to head the second 10 group.

Jets Defeat Heath 59-54

The North Marshall Jets defeated Heath last night, 59-54, despite the loss of two regulars from the Jet squad.

Forward Pat Doyle was out with the mumps and guard Jerry Powell, was sidelined with a sprained ankle.

Heath jumped out front, 14-11, but North Marshall took over in the second period to command an eight point halftime advantage, 35-25. Heath managed to trim the gap to four points, 41-37, at the end of three and knotted the score in the final canto but the Jets managed to hold off the rally to record the win.

Ricks, speedy guard for North Marshall, was the top scorer with 17 points. Hall and Lamplay added 16 and 14 points respectively. Jett led Heath with 15.

Kansas State And San Francisco Waltz Into The N. C. A. A. Tournament

By TIM MORIARTY

Kansas State and San Francisco waltzed into the NCAA Basketball Tournament today while Duke paid the price for underestimating one of its lowly "cousins" in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Led by big Bob Boozer's 23 points, top-ranked Kansas-State clinched the Big Eight Conference championship Tuesday night by whipping Oklahoma, 68-61, and the third-ranked Ducks wrapped up the West Coast Conference crown by sneaking past St. Mary's (Calif.), 40-47.

Duke, obviously looking ahead to its crucial game with North Carolina Friday night, dropped a 70-69 verdict to Virginia in the third overtime period. It was one of the season's biggest upsets and prevented Duke from clinching at least a share of the ACC regular-season championship.

The Blue Devils and North Carolina will carry identical 10-3 conference records into Friday's showdown at Chapel Hill, N. C., but the winner will not move into the NCAA championship. The ACC representative will be determined next week in a post-season tournament at Raleigh.

Cavaliers Hang On
Virginia wasn't given much of a chance against Duke, having won only eight of 20 previous contests. However, the Cavaliers opened a 29-26 lead at halftime and hung on to finish the regulation game in a 60-60 deadlock. Then center Herb Busch took over for Virginia in overtime.

Held scoreless during regulation, Busch dropped in a field goal to send the game into its second extra session and added the decisive basket in the third overtime.

Although Oklahoma used two defenders against Boozer, the six-foot-eight forward turned in one of his better games. Wildcat center Jack Paar, playing despite a slightly sprained ankle, scored 17 points and handled most of the rebound work.

Kansas State coach Tex Winter admitted after the clinching victory that "if anybody had said at the start of the season that we'd have the conference crown sewed up during three games to play, I would have told him to have his head examined."

State now has a 9-0 conference record and a 19-1 overall mark. The Wildcats will play the Missouri Valley Conference champion (probably Cincinnati) in the second round of the NCAA Midwest regional playoffs at Lawrence, Kan., March 14. San Francisco received quite a scare against St. Mary's. The Gaels gained a 26-23 advantage at halftime but San Francisco finally knotted the score at 44-44 all late in the contest and, led by Art Day's 20 points, the Dons pulled the game-out of the fire.

Baylor in Exhibition
Seattle, which accepted a bid to the NCAA Tournament earlier in the day, rolled to a 94-77 victory over the Buchanan Bakers, former AAU champions. Eight Baylor, the nation's leading scorer, made 17 points for Seattle but they will not be added to his season total because the game was considered an "exhibition" under NCAA rules.

Bowling Green, a candidate for the National Invitation Tournament, rallied in the second half to edge Loyola of Chicago, 65-63, and Holy Cross defeated NCAA-bound Connecticut, 92-89, in double overtime. Loyola (La.) celebrated its entry into the NCAA Tournament by whipping Memphis State, 68-55.

In tonight's feature game, Cincinnati can clinch a tie for first place in the Missouri Valley Conference by defeating St. Louis. Oscar Robertson of the Bearcats can take over the scoring lead from Baylor with a 35-point effort.

Indians Get 26th Victory Of The Year

The Benton Indians rolled to their 26th victory of the season with a 72-57 win over visiting Symsonia last night.

Benton was never in trouble leading 17-6 at the end of the first quarter and 30-17 at halftime.

Paul Dailey led the Indians with 23 points. Gold added 18 and Gammel pushed in 17.

McClure led all scorers with 30 points for the Rough Riders of Symsonia.

Benton 17 30 49 72
Symsonia 6 17 35 57

Dailey 23, Gold 18, Gammel 17, Peck 5, Peck 7, Duke 2.

JAMES KEENE'S powerful new novel JUSTICE, MY BROTHER!

CHAPTER 32

THE JUDGE sat alone inside the depot, outside at his feet. He looked at his sharply. "What is it, young man?"

"I want to talk to you," I said. "My time is short, but if you can make it brief."

"I'll make it brief," I promised. "It beats me how you can sit there and pass out twenty years of hard labor to a map, after you've heard evidence that proves one of the witnesses was a liar."

"I beg your pardon," He lectured me.

Overland was lying his head off when he said he didn't know Everett. He knew Everett all right, and he lied when he said that Luther ever shipped stolen cattle from Rind's Springs.

The judge's attention picked up considerable at that and his eyes became as sharp as drill points. "What's this you're saying?"

"You know what I'm saying. How many times does a thing have to be repeated before you understand it?"

The train whistled for the grade crossing a few miles out and the judge stood up, briefcase under his arm. I shouldn't have done it, but I grabbed his arm and swung him around so hard that he sat back down. "To hell with your train! You hear me out or you ain't going to get on it."

"I'm afraid I may have to call Marshall Ledbetter here," he said. "Call him then, because I want him to hear it too."

"You're serious," the judge said, sort of surprised. "Believe me, young man, what you're saying is strange to me."

For a moment I thought he was lying, then I knew that he wasn't. "Didn't my brother, Cord, talk to you?"

"I allow no one to speak to me after a jury returns a verdict. I have no intention of being intimidated or influenced while I'm pondering a decision."

"But he tried to see you?"

"I doubt that very much," he said. The train was slowing down and the judge got up again, moving toward the door. I followed him while trying to figure a way to stop him without landing in jail.

"Judge, won't you wait? Won't you please listen?"

He turned to me, his voice gentle and very kind. "Young man, I can understand your feelings, and believe me, I'm sympathetic with you. Had the evidence been anything but strongly circumstantial, I most certainly would have sentenced your brother to hang. As it is, there was strong doubt, a lack of conclusive proof. If in the future any facts present themselves that warrant reopening the case, rest assured that your brother's sentence can be set aside."

The train came in, blowing and snorting, and the judge walked away with hurried strides. I stood against the dark side of the depot and watched him board. I thought, there goes Luther's last chance.

From the baggage room, Marshal Bud Ledbetter emerged, his left hand handcuffed to Luther's right. Ma and Cord were there and Ma was nearly wild with grief. The marshal hustled Luther onto the train and then the brakeman waved his lantern.

I stood there while it pulled away, leaving behind a fog of gritty cinders and the stink of old machinery. Cord and Ma were walking toward me and Cord had his arm around Ma while she cried. I could see that they intended to pass me by, so I said, "Wait a minute, Cord."

My voice must have shocked them for they both stopped quickly and stared at the shadows. Then I stepped out where they could see me.

"Smoke," Cord said, "will you just go away?"

"Not yet," I said. "You didn't talk to the judge, Cord. You didn't tell him anything."

"No," he said, "I didn't. I thought it over, Smoke, and then I knew it wouldn't do any good. All we would have proved was that Heck Overland lied a little. Luther would still have been as bad off as he is now."

Ma raised her head and looked at me. "What are you trying to do, put your guilt on my son?"

Her arms tightened about Cord. "Shame on you, Smoke. Oh, you're a terrible boy! The devil's in you!"

"Come on, Ma," Cord said. "I'll get you a room at the hotel." He started to move on, then spoke to me again. "Why don't you just saddle your horse and get out of the country?"

I didn't answer him because that sounded like good advice. I waited until they disappeared, then eased up to Pete Lanahan's place. Bill Hageman was alone at a corner table.

I crossed over and told him what I'd found out about Heck Overland. Bill listened carefully, then said, "Pete told me that you'd wiped the floor with Heck. A little hard to believe at first, but he convinced me." He paused to sip his beer. "If you're right, then that means that Luther's going to die some time that he don't have coming. And the rustler is laughing up his sleeve." His eyes met mine, steady calm. "I could be that man, Smoke."

"I don't think you are," I said.

"No, I'm not. But Heck Overland could be."

"That's occurred to me," I said. "I know for sure the steers were stolen from there. I should say head. When it comes to naving brass, Overland's got it, shipping stolen cattle right under our noses."

"I don't know," Bill said. "Not many people get up to Rind's Springs any more. Myself, I have not been there for some time." He looked at me. "Overland left town right after the fight, I hear tell." He finished his beer, then pushed the glass aside. "You feel up to a little ride, Smoke?"

"Rind's Springs?"

"I was thinking about how I've neglected the place," Bill said. "Downright unfriendly of me, ain't it? You got a gun?"

"At home," I said. "You bring yours along?"

"Yes," he said. "Seemed like only a lunch at the time. I should say I'm glad I did. It's under the front seat of the buggy."

We got up and Bill put his beer stein on the bar. To Lanahan, he said, "Pete, you got a gun around here?"

"Yeah," Lanahan said. "Figure to shoot somebody?"

"No," Bill said. "Just wondered if I could borrow it."

"I guess," Lanahan said and dug around beneath the bar. He came up with a long-barreled Colt .45 and shoved it toward Bill, who rocked open the loading gate, checked the loads, then passed it on to me.

"You'll get this back," I said and Bill and I went out.

Since Bill had driven to town to rent a horse for him. When I came back, leading my own and the livery pony, Bill was standing on Lanahan's porch. He was wearing his gun.

In all the years I'd known him, I'd never seen him packing his six-shooter, but I must say that he wore it pretty casually, as though he had a long-standing familiarity with it. Me? I stuffed Pete Lanahan's .45 in my belt and let it go at that. Even when I practiced regular, I never could draw fast. But I knew which end did the damage and could point it fast to middling, which was about all the average westerner could do.

I had a notion to stop and tell Cord where I was going in case Heck Overland did me in, but Bill was in a hurry to leave.

"He lay on his bed, looking blood. His eyes were wide-staring as though he found the dark ceiling utterly fascinating—the story continues to-morrow."

Vibrancy and color frighten old man winter away. Paisley print cotton rolls into a collar that is tabbed at center front. Solid color sash wraps the waist in contrasting color above a fully pleated skirt. Sizes 5-15.

Like a breath of spring air... Peg Palmer designs an into-summer style in a very special fabric... cotton with its own stars woven with glitter threads. Box pleats are stitched down on bodice and swing open below a self belt. Sizes 10-18.
